A party that you wouldn't forget.

by Sora-chan

A party that you wouldn't forget.

* Do not steal this fic! It's not right! *
>There might be Yaoi in this fic, I'm not sure, but all the lead male and [all] female charaters will be untouched.

>
Taichi was in the 8th grade. He had matured alot since his times in the Dejital World, but loved the memories. The sweet memories.

>He remembered every single one of the childrens personalities, from Jyou to... Sora. He remembered Sora's sweet smile, back then. Now, he never saw Sora, she was always too busy to spend time with him.
Flash Back
>Taichi: Sora-chan! Oii! Come over here!
Sora: Nani, Taichi? Too busy! I'll talk to you later!
>end of flashback
"Sossh... Has she forgotten about me...?" he cried silently in a corner, and then Yamato approached him.
"Taichi-chan, why are you crying...?" yelled Yamato.
>Taichi got up, wiped his tears and replied, "Yam-a-to! I'm not crying! If anyone would be crying it'd be you!"
Yamato was Taichi's best friend now, they always joked around with each other, and made fun of each other, but they were best friends, really, even though they were opposites.
>"I bet you were crying about failing a math test." Yamato joked.

"Nani? Iie!" Taichi said, confused.
>"Since when would I cry over a math grade? And hey! I wasn't crying!" Taichi yelled.
Yamato nudged Taichi and said with an evil voice, "Did Mimi tell you that she liked you?, I'd cry over that".

>Taichi started to laugh, and said laughing hard, "If she told me that she liked me, I'd be dead by now."
"What is it then?" said Yamato, seriously.
>"Nothing, just nothing" Taichi replied.
Taichi screamed, "I wasn't crying!"
>"Sureeee..." Yamato said.
"Anyways, your invited to my party, Taichi-chan. Only cool people can come, and your one of the star players on the soccer and basketball teams, so your cool." said Yamato.
>"Gee.. Thanks..." said Taichi, opening the invitation.
"Anyways, you know, all the chosen children are coming." said Yamato.

>Taichi dropped his invitation, and quickly nodded, saying "I'll go, then."

>
Gomen, this fic is short right now! There's not much romance either, yet! Please review!

End
file.